

Today in History

April 14, 2022

▲ The Russian warship Moskva sank in the Black Sea. Ukraine claimed it hit the ship with two Neptune missiles, Russia blamed a munitions explosion on board

1983: The first cordless telephone was introduced in Britain

2008: Passenger train services resumed between the Indian city of Calcutta and Bangladesh's capital Dhaka for the first time in 43 years

2008: The World Bank announced emergency measures to tackle the dramatic rise in staple food prices

2013: Nicolas Maduro was elected President of Venezuela following the death of Hugo Chavez