

Rarest diamonds sold at auction

The Eternal Pink Diamond, a flawless 10.57-carat jewel, is expected to fetch more than $35 million at Sotheby's, potentially setting a record for the highest price per carat

◀ Eternal Pink:

Mined by De Beers at Damtshaa mine in Botswana.

Internally flawless – no blemishes visible under 10x magnification, highest ranking for quality of colour

■ Price per carat ($ millions)

● Auction price / date

Williamson Pink Star	$57.73m / 2022	$5.2m
Oppenheimer Blue	$57.50m / 2016	$3.9m
Blue Moon of Josephine	$2.6m	$31.70m / 2015
The Orange	$2.4m	$35.54m / 2013
Pink Legacy	$2.1m	$38.50m / 2018
Graff Vivid Pink	$1.9m	$46.00m / 2010
Winston Blue	$1.8m	$23.80m / 2014
Sweet Josephine Pink	$1.8m	$28.50m / 2015
Perfect Pink	$1.7m	$23.80m / 2010
Fortune Pink	$1.6m	$29.00m / 2022
Orange-Red	$1.2m	$1.45m / 2022
CTF Pink Star	$1.2m	$71.20m / 2017

▲ Williamson Pink Star:

At 11.15ct, was second-largest internally flawless, vivid pink diamond to sell at auction – outsized only by CTF Pink Star at 59.60ct