

Today in History

August 5, 2022

▲ Revolutionary Japanese fashion designer Issey Miyake died aged 84. His global fashion brand was famous for its technology-driven clothing designs

1963: The United States, Soviet Union and Britain agreed to ban nuclear weapons tests in the atmosphere, outer space, and under water

1966: Construction of the World Trade Centre, destroyed in the 9/11 attacks of 2001, began in New York City

1973: The USSR launched a mission to study Mars' surface and atmosphere

2013: Amazon founder Jeff Bezos bought the Washington Post newspaper for $250 million