

NATO to boost defence spending

NATO chief Jens Stoltenberg intends to make the alliance's current military spending target of 2% of national GDP a minimum requirement, rather than a goal to aim for

NATO DEFENCE EXPENDITURE: As share of GDP, 2023 estimate*

*Based on 2015 prices and exchange rates NATO member Iceland has no armed forces

Sources: NATO, Reuters

Picture: Getty Images

© GRAPHIC NEWS