

Trump's possible co-conspirators

The latest indictment against former President Donald Trump accuses six unnamed co-conspirators of assisting in alleged attempts to reverse his defeat in the 2020 election

■ Co-conspirator 1: Possibly Rudy Giuliani, Trump's former personal attorney. Indictment describes "an attorney who was willing to spread knowingly false claims"

■ Co-conspirator 2: May be John Eastman, White House lawyer. Indictment alleges conspirator circulated memo laying out how Vice-President Mike Pence could choose "fake electors" to keep Trump in power

■ Co-conspirator 3: Could be Trump attorney Sidney Powell. Indictment alleges Trump "embraced and publicly amplified" her "unfounded election fraud claims"

■ Co-conspirator 4: Possibly former Justice Department official Jeffrey Clark, who "attempted to open sham election crime investigations... with knowingly false claims of election fraud"

■ Co-conspirator 5: May be attorney Kenneth Chesebro, who prosecutors allege sent email to Giuliani suggesting plan to submit fraudulent votes and disregard valid votes for Joe Biden

■ Co-conspirator 6: Identified as "political consultant" who helped implement plan to submit fraudulent votes
