

Today in History

November 28, 1948

▲ The first Polaroid camera went on sale. The instant camera used self-developing film to create a chemically developed print shortly after taking the picture

1943: Churchill, Roosevelt and Stalin held their first summit meeting to discuss the progress of WWII

2000: The Netherlands became the first country in the world to legalise euthanasia

2016: Newly discovered superheavy elements were officially named nihonium, moscovium, tennessine, and oganesson

2020: Actor Dave Prowse, who played Darth Vader in the original Star Wars trilogy, died from Covid-19 aged 85