

Today in History

January 12, 2023

▲ Lisa Marie Presley, U.S. singer and songwriter, died at age 54. She was the only child of Elvis and Priscilla Presley, and the heir to her father's estate

1904: Henry Ford set a land speed record of 91.37mph in his 999 racing car near Detroit

1932: Arkansas teacher Hattie Ophelia Caraway became the first woman elected to the U.S. Senate

1966: Batman, assisted by his epithet-prone sidekick Robin, winged his way from comic books to U.S. TV

1990: Romania became the first Warsaw Pact member to outlaw the Communist Party