

Iranian missiles strike Iraq and Syria

Iran's Revolutionary Guards say they launched ballistic missiles against targets in Syria and Iraq on Jan 15, including what the elite force described as an Israeli "spy headquarters"

Idlib region: Iranian missile barrage targets so-called Islamic State group, who claimed responsibility for Jan 3 terror attack in southern Iran which killed at least 84 people

Irbil: Four civilians killed and six injured after missiles strike area near U.S. consulate. Iran says it hit headquarters of Israeli spy agency Mossad in Iraqi Kurdistan

