

Philippines to develop disputed island

A trilateral summit between the Philippines, Japan and the U.S. will address China's claims to the South China Sea as Manila pours millions of pesos into developing an island deep within disputed waters

