

New Caledonia evacuation flights

Australia and New Zealand are sending government planes to evacuate nationals from the French overseas territory wracked by days of deadly riots

Unrest triggered by fears that new electoral laws will dilute indigenous votes and hand more power to French residents

