

Indonesia set to move to new capital

Indonesia's president Joko Widodo plans to start working in July from Nusantara, his new capital city on the island of Borneo.

The first phase of the ambitious project is 80% complete

Construction began in mid-2022 after Joko Widodo (left) announced that Jakarta would no longer have capital status – metropolis suffers from pollution and congestion, is prone to earthquakes and is rapidly sinking

