

Today in History

July 6, 2023

▲ Earth experienced its hottest day to date, with an average temperature of 17.23C (63F), according to climate and weather forecast models

1785: The dollar was unanimously chosen as the monetary unit for the United States

1964: Nyasaland became the independent state of Malawi

1994: Israeli premier Yitzhak Rabin pleaded for time and PLO chairman Yasser Arafat pleaded for money upon receiving a UN peace prize

2006: The Nathula Pass, an historic trade route between India and China, was reopened after 44 years