

Deadly landslides strike southern India

More than a hundred people are dead and many others trapped after heavy rains triggered landslides in India's Kerala state

