

Kamala Harris to pick running mate

Democratic nominee Kamala Harris must decide whether to pick a VP candidate who can appeal to parts of electorate she doesn't reach or focus on one who can help her govern if she wins in November

Senator Mark Kelly
Arizona

PROS: Former Navy pilot and NASA astronaut. Strong on gun safety and border control. Notable fundraiser and popular with independent voters
CONS: Lack of labour support

Governor Tim Walz
Minnesota

PROS: Record of progressives policies, former NRA member. Served 12 years in Congress
CONS: Unpopular with independents, not well-known nationally

Governor Josh Shapiro
Pennsylvania

PROS: Business-friendly, pro school choice. Jewish politician comfortable talking faith
CONS: Pro-Israel stance could turn off young Muslims. Only two years into first term in office

PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION LIKELY VOTE

Swing states

Helping to carry swing states could prove vital in November

4 Transport Secretary Pete Buttigieg, Indiana

Midwesterner, served in Afghanistan. Four years in Biden administration and being gay could deter swing voters

STILL IN THE MIX

5 Governor Andy Beshear, Kentucky

Backed by unions and holds cross-party appeal, having won red state three times
