

Super typhoon Yagi barrels towards China

After doubling in strength since killing at least 16 people in northern Philippines early this week, one of this year's most powerful storms is making landfall along China's southern coast

