

Today in History

October 14, 2004

▲ Prince Norodom Sihamoni, a former ballet dancer, became King of Cambodia after his father, Norodom Sihanouk, abdicated due to ill health

1884: George Eastman obtained a patent for flexible photographic film able to be rolled up in a canister

2004: Vladimir Putin and Hu Jintao demarcated the 4,345km (2,700-mile) border between Russia and China

2009: WWW creator Tim Berners-Lee apologised for the “unnecessary” forward slashes in internet addresses

2023: Australian voters rejected altering the Constitution to establish an Indigenous Voice to Parliament