

China's next-gen stealth jets revealed

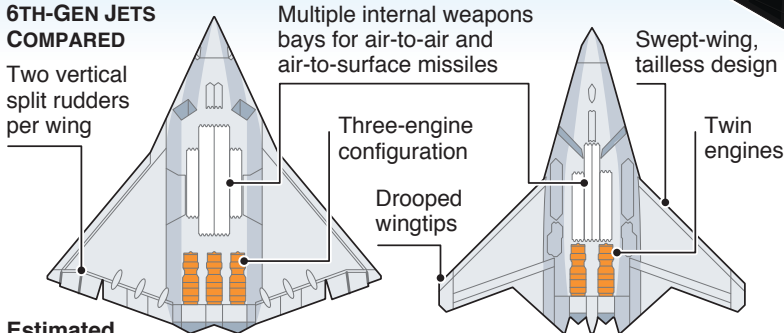

China has test-flown two new prototypes of its sixth-generation combat aircraft, tentatively dubbed the J-36 and J-50, in a move that could potentially challenge U.S. aerial dominance in Asia

J-36 FEATURES

6TH-GEN JETS COMPARED

Two vertical split rudders per wing

Estimated specifications

	Chengdu J-36	Shenyang J-50
Length	22.5m	22m
Wingspan	24m	22m
Max takeoff weight	55 tonnes	40 tonnes
Max speed	Mach 2.5 (3,000km/h)	Mach 2 (2,500km/h)
Combat radius	3,000km	2,200km