

Firefighters battle to contain LA blazes

Wildfires raging in the city of Los Angeles have killed at least 24 people, as firefighters race to put out the blazes before the return of strong winds that could fuel the flames again.

At least 16 people remain missing

Active fires (as of Jan 13, 2025)

