

Most of the world's air is dirty

The majority of our planet suffers from dirty air, according to a new report, with only 12 out of 138 countries having air quality below WHO's annual threshold of 5.0 micrograms per cubic metre of PM2.5 – a harmful particulate that's 2.5 microns in diameter or smaller

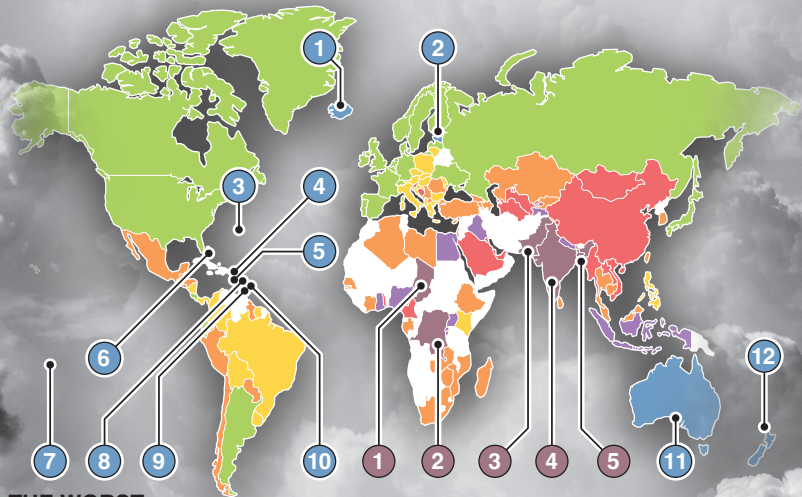

▲ MEETS WHO GUIDELINE

▲ EXCEEDS GUIDELINE BY OVER 10 TIMES

THE BEST...

1 Iceland	4.0	5 U.S. Virgin Islands	2.6	9 Grenada	3.2
2 Estonia	4.6	6 Bahamas	2.3	10 Barbados	3.1
3 Bermuda	2.5	7 French Polynesia	2.5	11 Australia	4.5
4 Puerto Rico	2.7	8 Montserrat	2.7	12 New Zealand	4.4

THE WORST...

1 Chad	91.8	3 Pakistan	73.7	5 Bangladesh	78.0
2 D.R. Congo	58.2	4 India	50.6

Sources: Associated Press, Air Quality News, IQAir

© GRAPHIC NEWS