

April 28: Canada federal election day

Canada goes to the polls, with voting spread across six time zones and ballots counted by hand. Booths will all close within three hours of each other to enable a winner to be announced by the following morning

