

South Korea's presidential election result

Lee Jae-myung
Democratic Party

Opposition leader Lee Jae-myung is projected to win the presidency, according to a joint exit poll from local broadcasters KBS, MBC and SBS

Lee Jae-myung, 61: Former human rights lawyer who had twice unsuccessfully sought presidency, rose to prominence on wave of public outrage following declaration of martial law by now-impeached former leader Yoon Suk Yeol in early December

Kim Moon-soo
People Power Party

39.3%

Lee Jun-seok
New Reform Party

7.7%

Turnout: 77.9% – higher than 77.1% recorded in 2022