

Ukraine peace talks focus on security, land

European leaders will join Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelensky for a crunch meeting with President Donald Trump in Washington, amid concerns over security guarantees and Russian territorial demands

■ Zelensky (right) has welcomed Trump's apparent willingness to offer Ukraine protection similar to NATO's Article 5 principle – if one member is attacked, then all members come to their defence

■ Trump (far right) has already ruled out Ukraine joining NATO or getting back Crimea, which Russia illegally annexed in 2014

■ Zelensky willing to discuss issue of territory but has rejected handing over Donetsk region to Russia

■ Proposed peace deal discussed by Trump and Russia's Vladimir Putin at Alaska summit calls for Kyiv to surrender Donetsk and Luhansk in return for freezing rest of frontline
