

App links donors to Ukraine drone units

A new Ukrainian smartphone app allows users to donate cash to elite drone units fighting Russia, while earning points and badges in a similar fashion to rewards systems devised by video game developers

International supporters include Star Wars actor Mark Hamill and entrepreneur Richard Branson

App is easy to set up, accepting common payment methods

Users rewarded for donations with rank leaderboards and merit badges for passing certain targets

Donations are encouraged by allowing users to get real-time updates from front line, choose favourite crews and reward them with cash to buy more drone equipment
