

How Bondi Beach shooting unfolded

Australia has vowed to strengthen the country's gun laws after at least 15 people were killed by gunmen targeting the Jewish community at a Hanukkah event on Sydney's Bondi Beach

Footbridge from where most of shooting takes place

Bystander tackles and disarms one of the gunmen

Bondi Pavillion

Archer Park Hanukkah event

Children's playground

50m

165 feet

Bondi Beach

AUSTRALIA

Sydney

■ Dec 14, 5pm local time: Hanukkah event begins

■ 6.40pm: Alleged gunmen (below), Sajid Akram and his son, Naveed Akram, park car near elevated footbridge on Campbell Parade

■ Sajid moves to park grass, where he is tackled and disarmed by bystander, since identified as Ahmed al-Ahmed

■ 6.47pm: Sajid returns to bridge where video shows Naveed is still shooting. He re-arms. Both men come under fire from police

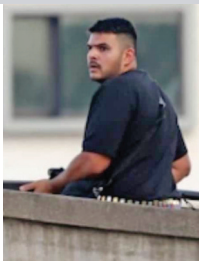

■ Sajid is shot and falls to ground

■ 6.50pm: Naveed is shot. Unarmed civilian bystanders approach bridge

■ Police and members of public run onto bridge in chaotic scenes

■ 7.30pm: Police seen surrounding shooters on ground. Sajid Akram is confirmed dead, while Naveed is taken to hospital with injuries

■ Aftermath: Police declare attack to be terrorist incident. Car belonging to shooters is found with improvised explosive devices (IEDs) inside

■ 6.43pm: New South Wales police receive reports of shots being fired at park in Bondi Beach

■ Footage filmed by bystanders shows two gunmen firing from bridge towards people at Hanukkah event