

Security fears over China's London embassy

The UK government has approved China's plans to build its biggest embassy in Europe despite widespread fears that it could be used to target dissidents and intercept internet traffic to the City of London

Fibre-optic cables:

To City of London financial district

"Super-embassy"

Area: 22,000m²
Former Royal Mint

Fibre-optic cables:

To Canary Wharf

