Lebanon says Israel damaged historic sites

Revered heritage sites in southern Lebanon have suffered significant damage during Israel's campaign against Iran-backed Hezbollah

Above: Roman-era columns in Tyre

REPORTED DAMAGE

1 Tyre: Crown blown off ancient column at al-Bass site, famous for its Roman remains

2 Chama: Severe damage to medieval citadel at pilgrimage site for Muslims and Christians

3 Nabatieh: Mamluk-era market hit by Israeli strikes

4 Israeli "security zone" Several centuries-old border villages bulldozed

5 Beaufort Castle UNESCO alarmed by reports of fighting around medieval fortress, occupied by Israeli forces

6 Tebnin: Town heavily bombed, prompting fears of damage to Crusader fortress

UNESCO World Heritage Sites

Rachid Karami International Fair

Mediterranean Sea

Kadisha Valley and Cedars of God

Byblos

LEBANON

Beirut

Baalbek

Anjar

SYRIA

Sidon

Damascus

Tyre

Israeli "security zone"

Golan Heights

ISRAEL

20km

12.5 miles

Sources: ISW, Reuters

Picture: Getty Images

© GRAPHIC NEWS