China seen more positively than U.S.

The U.S. has lost its long-standing lead over China in global favourability, according to a new Pew Research poll, reflecting deteriorating ties between the Trump administration and key allies

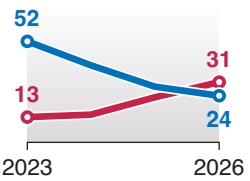

HOW U.S.-CHINA FAVOURABILITY GAP HAS FLIPPED, ACCORDING TO NUMEROUS COUNTRIES (%)

Argentina

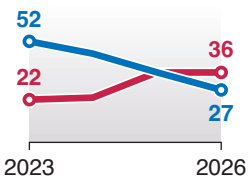

Australia

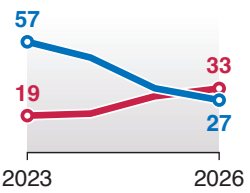

Canada

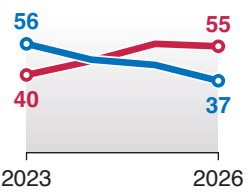

France

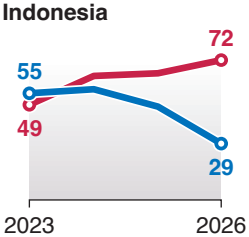

Germany

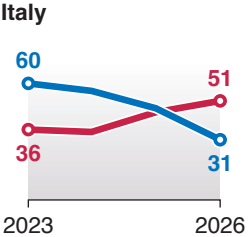

Greece

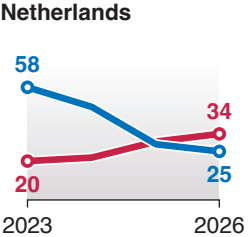

Indonesia

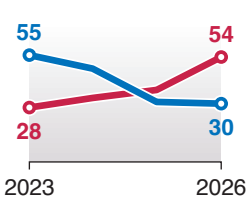

Italy

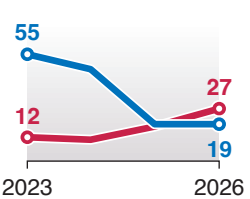

Netherlands

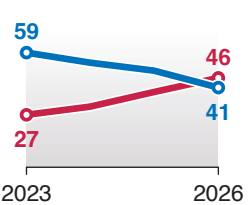

Spain

Sweden

UK

Survey of 42,151 people across 36 countries, Feb 8-May 13, 2026. Note: Only countries where favourability of both U.S. and China changed by 8 percentage points or more since 2023 are shown.
Sources: AP, Pew Research Center. Illustration picture source: Getty Images © GRAPHIC NEWS