U.S. long-range and interceptor missile stockpiles heavily depleted by Iran war

LONG-RANGE SUPPLIES

U.S. is believed to have used up virtually all of its global stockpile of highly accurate long-range missiles, namely ATACMS and PrSM munitions

REMAINING U.S. INTERCEPTOR INVENTORY

Patriot missile: $4.2m each

THAAD missile: $12.7m each

Note: Estimated inventories on Jul 27 account for additional use and deliveries since Apr 8 ceasefire

President Trump denies U.S. is running low on some munitions, saying vast resupplies are being produced

Sources: CBS, CSIS, Norsk Luftvern *PAC-3 variant Pictures: Raytheon, Getty © GRAPHIC NEWS