ICE to use electric shock gloves

America's controversial Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) officers are to spend $10-20 million procuring new electric shock gloves – much to the consternation of rights campaigners

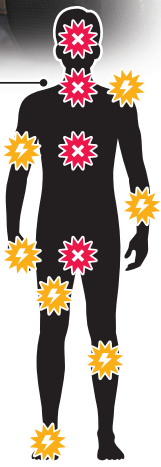

Soon ICE agents like this will be able to electrocute arrestees by just grabbing them

CT-G5 G.L.O.V.E. (Generated Low Output Voltage Emitter)

Contact pads: Deliver 324-362 volts for sharp pain (akin to bee sting) that inhibits coordinated muscle movement, leading to compliance in 3 seconds

- Officers can grab anywhere on body except head, face, throat, chest or groin
- No more than two gloves should be applied to subject at one time and they should not be used for more than 15 seconds
- Gloves need to come into direct contact with skin – not effective through clothing or hair

Sources: Reuters, AP, CNN, Compliant Technologies, Department of Homeland Security. Pictures: Getty Images, Compliant Technologies

© GRAPHIC NEWS