Peace Board unveils $2.45bn Gaza plan

President Trump's Board of Peace has proposed a six-month, $2.45bn Gaza recovery plan – but its future is uncertain as Israel and Hamas remain deadlocked over the U.S.-backed ceasefire's terms

$1bn INFRASTRUCTURE

Temporary shelters	$400m
Rubble clearance	$275m
Hospital rehabilitation	$50m
Road repair	$30m

$300m HEALTH, EDUCATION

$265m OTHER

$885m SECURITY

Hardened site in Rafah for 5,000 ISF† personnel	$275m
Recruit, equip and deploy multinational security contingent	$140m
Mobilising Palestinian police	$120m
Weapons buy-back scheme	$20m

- Key obstacle: Hamas accepted disarmament plan in July, provided Israel ends "aggression" and withdraws forces. Netanyahu says military stays until Hamas "genuinely" disarms
- Funding gap: Board admits substantial donations still needed – $18bn pledged, only $280m handed over so far. Full recovery estimated to cost $71.4bn over next decade
- Violence: At least 1,381 Palestinians, including 300 children‡, killed in Israeli attacks since ceasefire began Oct 10, 2025. Five Israeli soldiers killed in combat, one contractor in "operational accident"
- Living conditions: Most buildings have been destroyed; more than 2 million residents are confined to around one third of enclave, mostly in tents or damaged buildings

*Based on copy of plan obtained by Axios
†International Stabilization Force (ISF)
‡According to Gaza's health ministry, whose figures are considered reliable by UN

Sources: Axios, Reuters, BBC, IOM
Picture: Getty Images

© GRAPHIC NEWS