Who is funding the U.S. midterms?

The elections are set to be the most expensive in U.S. history, with spending on political advertising alone projected to reach $11.6 billion

BIGGEST CONTRIBUTORS TO U.S. MIDTERM ELECTION FUNDING

Elon Musk: Technology entrepreneur
$446m

Richard and Elizabeth Uihlein: Packaging tycoons
$150m

One Nation: Nonprofit organisation
$133m

Jeff and Janine Yass: School-choice advocates
$110m

George Soros: Billionaire investor
$102m

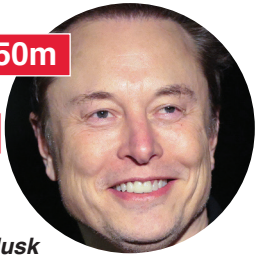

Majority Forward: Nonprofit organisation
$102m

House Majority Forward
Nonprofit organisation
$93.7m

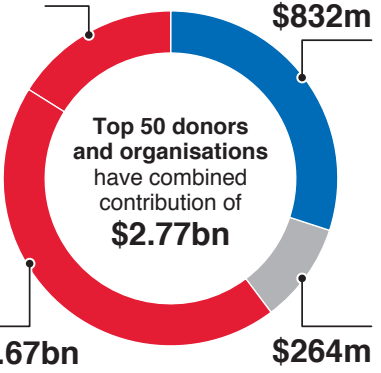

Ben Horowitz and Marc Andreessen
Technology investors
$92.2m

Mike Bloomberg: Entrepreneur and former NYC mayor
$84.2m

Miriam Adelson
Physician and philanthropist
$67.6m

Elon Musk
Contribution of world's richest man is more than next three donors combined

Source: Al Jazeera
Picture: Getty Images
© GRAPHIC NEWS