

Bird flu preparedness

A study of European pandemic flu preparations by the London School of Hygiene has found serious gaps between some national plans and the World Health Organisation's preparedness checklist

